

Mojisola Okuribido-Seriki

Mojisola is the Programme Specialist for Culture in UNESCO's Accra Cluster Office, where she covers Benin, Cote d'Ivoire, Ghana, Liberia, Sierra Leone and Togo. With over 20 years experience in UNESCO, her career has spanned international relations and intersectoral approaches to cultural heritage management and development. With an educational background in Social and Economic Administration, she has extensive experience in culture programming in Africa with previous posts including UNESCO cluster offices covering Madagascar, Comoros, Mauritius, Seychelles, Tanzania and a host of other African countries.